Three Belle Glade residents killed in crash on 'Bloody 27'

Traveled frequently, nine people have already been killed this year on Hwy. 27

Tammy Jackson Staff Reporter

U.S. Highway 27 claimed more lives in an accident Thursday, June 23. Known as "Bloody 27" the lives of three Belle Glade residents have been terminated when the car they were in struck a tractor trailer head on.

According to the Florida Highway Patrol, Aisheh M. Musallett, 18, and Muhmoud Hassan, 12, were killed in the accident. Ana Musallett, 6 months, was transported to St. Mary's Hospital, West Palm Beach, via Trauma Hawk, where she was listed in critical condition. She died later that afternoon.

FHP reports indicate a 1983 Oldsmobile, driven by Musallett, was southbound on U.S. Highway 27 (2 miles north of South Bay). A tractor, trailer, driven by Martin Stuart of Tampa, 49, was traveling in a northbound direction in the right lane. The Oldsmobile drifted onto the shoulder and moved back onto and across southbound U.S. 27 rotating counterclockwise.

The vehicle then entered the median and continued to rotate before exiting the median and facing northwest.

Reports state Stuart made every effort to stop his vehicle but was unable to do so.

Stuart was treated for shock and minor injuries at Glades General Hospital.

Troopers say the driver's speed and inexperience on the roadway were the key factors of the crash.

Reports also state seat belts were not in use (the baby was in a car seat), however, due to the severity of the crash, seat belts probably would not have helped.

According to statistics, nine people have been killed on U.S. Hwy. 27 already this year.

Everglades Restoration Project brings public outcry

By Earlene Kuck

More than 350 residents of the Lake Okechobee area took the opportunity to voice their opinions at the most recent Corps of Engineers workshop held Tuesday night at the John Boy Auditorium in Clewiston.

Concerned citizens heard the results of the December workshop regarding the C & SF

Review Study to restore the Everglades. Public outcries were heard from farmers, businessmen, retired people, ministers, conservationists and housewives. They had many concerns ranging from possible flooding of their land and whether or not they would have homes or jobs left, to a total disruption of their lives, after hearing some of the options offered by the Corps of Engineers.

Carroll Point businessman George Cooper voiced concern over property values decreasing and urged everyone present to attend as many of the Corps of Engineers meetings as possible in the future to share their concerns.

Man guns down wife in City of South Bay

Man had been served a restraining order

Tammy Jackson Staff Reporter

The City of South Bay was overrun with excitement and anxiety and confusion Wednesday, June 22, when a man shot his wife on U.S. Highway 27. Five days after being released from the Palm Beach County Stockade, Elberto Suarez, 57, gunned down his wife, Noelia Suarez.

According to Palm Beach County Sheriff's Department reports, Suarez waited for his wife on State Road 80. When she drove past, he pulled alongside of her vehicle and began shooting.

Reports state the wife is separated from her husband and a restraining order on him had been served.

A passenger with Ms. Suarez, Mirni Lopez, was also hit in the head by the gunfire. They were both transported to Delray Community Hospital where they were listed in critical condition.

Henry Lopez was also riding in the vehicle with the ladies, however, he fled after the crash and was unharmed.

After the shooting, Suarez fled the scene and was spotted by the South Bay Police Department who chased him into Belle Glade.

Suarez stopped his vehicle in front of his house on Canal St. where he fired at South Bay Police Officer Clark. Officer Clark returned fire.

According to PBDO Det. Sgt. John Russ, Suarez was shot but he had inflicted himself with the gunshot.

Ms. Suarez's vehicle crashed at the intersection of State Road 80 and U.S. Highway 27. The shooter then exited his vehicle and began shooting into Ms. Suarez's vehicle. She was struck in the head by gunshot.

At newspaper press time, Sgt. Russ said Ms. Suarez has been released from the hospital. Ms. Lopez is still in the hospital with no change in her condition. Suarez also remains in the hospital in serious condition.

Religious experience or light reflection? Believers flock to see crosses in windows

By Brenda Bunting Editor

Ruby Clayton says it's a sign from God. Her neighbor, Christine Seabrook thinks it's a reflection from a light pole and a big nuisance.

Both women are experiencing what some are saying is a religious event. Crosses are appearing in their bathroom windows each evening after dark.

Mrs. Clayton, who lives at 300 N.W. 14th Street, Belle Glade, has been allowing several hundred people to traipse through her home this week to stand on her commode and look out the window facing north.

"They're telling me God's sending me a blessing," says the 79-year-old woman. "I'm glad they come to see it."

Christine Seabrook, who lives next door at 232 N.W. 14th Street isn't so charitable.

When you look out one of her bathroom windows, which faces west, you can see two bright crosses. Another cross can be seen out a window facing north.

"I hope people don't come no more," she said. "I'm not going to let them in."

She says it's just a reflection of a light pole on the next street.

"I've lived in this house two years and we've always seen it," she says.

Tell that to the believers. They have been coming in droves for the past few nights as word spreads about the crosses.

Officers from the Belle Glade Police Department have had to direct traffic on the street.

Local Red Cross offering free swimming lessons

By Brenda Bunting Editor

Reginald Mila, 9, is trying to learn to swim. He has been practicing for about two weeks and taking lessons at Lake Shore Pool.

"It's fun, I like it," he said.

Reginald and about 30 other kids are expected to show up every day this summer to learn to swim through a program offered by the American Red Cross, West County Service Center.

Red Cross has received a $5,000 grant to help local children take swimming lessons at the pool. The grant is funded through the local Boys and Girls Club and The Glades Community Development Corporation.

"We are also looking for another facility to offer classes," said Red Cross Chairman of the Board Jeannette Dexter.

Mrs. Dexter said Red Cross is committed to supporting water safety.

This is the first time in many years that Red Cross certified classes have been offered in the Glades and she hopes as many as 30 or 40 children a day will take advantage of the class.

The city charges $1 a day for children to use the pool and this is where the Red Cross funding will be used. The city is providing the qualified, certified swimming instructors and lifeguards at the pool.

"We plan to offer this throughout the summer until school starts," said Mrs. Dexter.

After learning to swim, each child must pass a test to receive their safety swimming card.

For more information on this program, or any others offered by the American Red Cross, call Heather Teeters, director, at 992-8793.

Jeannette Dexter receives award

The Palm Beach County Chapter of the American Red Cross recently presented the Richard Turner West County Service Center Award to Jeannette Dexter at the 1994 Annual Meeting, which was held at the Poinciana Club in Palm Beach.

"Jeannette is well deserving of this prestigious award," said Heather Teeters, director of the West County Service Center.

Mrs. Dexter is the chairman of the Saks Fifth Avenue Fashion Show, a fundraising event which has been held for the last two years in Belle Glade.

"Jeannette is a marvelous cook, and prepared all the food for this event, which last year sold over 300 tickets," said Ms. Teeters. "She is tireless in her efforts to recruit volunteers to serve on committees in charge of promoting vital Red Cross programs and services to people in Belle Glade and surrounding communities," she added.

In her spare time, Mrs. Dexter spearheaded the move of the Red Cross West County Service Center into a donated building on Main Street. She opened the door to the public in April and has been busy ever since, helping new staff, greeting, recruiting and training Red Cross volunteers, and serving the public.

Volunteers are the heart of the American Red Cross. For further information, please call 992-9703.

Congressman Lewis endorses Mark Foley in congressional race

Republican State Senator Mark Foley has picked up the endorsement of the man he hopes to succeed in Washington - Congressman Tom Lewis. In a letter dated June 23, Con. Lewis pointed to Sen. Foley's commitment to the people he has represented in choosing him over the other candidates.

"A review of your record clearly indicates your first priority has been one of commitment to your district and your constituents. You have indicated a strong talent for leadership, and the energy and enthusiasm necessary to excel on behalf of those you serve," Con. Lewis said. "Your public service has been guided by loyalty to those you serve, a capacity for leadership and integrity of purpose. Therefore, I believe you to be the best choice for Congress, and am pleased to extend to you my personal endorsement as the next Representative for Florida's 16th Congressional District."

Con. Lewis also pointed to Sen. Foley's background outside of government in his endorsement saying, "I am also encouraged that you have had experience outside of the political arena working in the private sector. I believe this experience to be the best course available in common sense and, therefore, in developing responsible public policy. Overall, it appears that your basic philosophy reflects my belief in the limited role of government."

Sen. Foley, who formerly operated a family restaurant in Lake Worth, is currently a realtor and president of Foley-Smith & Associates.

"I am pleased that Tom has thrown his support behind our campaign," Sen. Foley said. "He has demonstrated a strong commitment to public service and has earned an outstanding reputation in the community. Certainly, his endorsement means a great deal to me."

Con. Lewis has proven himself a popular legislator in the seven counties he represents. Since he first went to Congress, he has regularly racked up re-election margins of 60-70 percent.

Sen. Foley, who announced his candidacy for Congress in April, has over 1,200 people who have either donated money or volunteered to help in his campaign.

Weathering storms like Hurricane Andrew without being in the dark

By Mike Lyons

It all began with Hurricane Andrew. The idea for a different kind of hurricane shutter was born hours after Andrew devastated Southern Dade County.

Mechanical Engineer Greg Kostrzecha, like everyone else, was amazed at the power of Andrew. Kostrzecha, who lives in Pompano Beach, saw first hand how Andrew destroyed thousands of homes. "It was the most amazing thing I had ever seen," he said.

Kostrzecha also saw how many other homes and buildings were still standing, damaged but still there, after the storm. He noticed that many of these structures were equipped with storm shutters.

Storm shutters protect a home from flying debris and, more importantly, shutters keep the wind out. Once the winds of a hurricane get inside a house, all bets are off. The weakest parts of your home are your windows. Once the window is broken the winds from a hurricane can destroy or substantially damage your house.

Shutters or storm panels come in a variety of materials in a variety of prices. Plywood shutters, the do-it-yourself-kind, are the cheapest but you need to know what you're doing. A shutter is no good if it is not properly installed.

Other materials used for shutters include aluminum and steel. Prices range from around $7 per square foot for aluminum storm panels all the way up to $32 a square foot for galvanized steel motorized roll down shutters.

There was something else Kostrzecha noticed as he toured the damage of Hurricane Andrew. The shutters kept more than the wind from penetrating the house. They also kept out light.

"I began to wonder how a person would feel in a dark house waiting for a hurricane to hit," he said. "I mean, the hurricane is bad enough but in the dark too? I said there's got to be a better way."

Using his knowledge of engineering, Kostrzecha thinks he has come up with a better way. It's a hurricane shutter that is as clear as a window, as strong as steel and as light as a feather.

"I knew there were materials out there with the high impact capability to handle a class five hurricane," he said. "Materials other than aluminum or steel. I also wanted to make this product clear so people would not have the feeling of claustrophobia."

Kostrzecha's shutter is made of Makrolon, a space age polycarbonate material that he says is one of the strongest impact resistant polymers on the market today. "It's the same material they use to make football helmets," he said.

In testing conducted at the Hurricane Test Lab in Riviera Beach, Kostrzecha's clear shutter performed well, passing both the impact tests and the pressure test. "It's stronger than aluminum and as strong as steel," Kostrzecha said.

It's also very light. "Its properties are so lightweight compared to what else is on the market," Kostrzecha said. "People with infirmities or senior citizens can easily install the product with very little help."

Kostrzecha says his clear, strong and lightweight shutter will not rust, corrode or deteriorate in any way. It's also affordable, costing about $8 a square foot.

We learn from disasters, just like children learn from their mistakes. And while Andrew was a devastating storm, there have been some positives gained from it. One of those is a shutter that is lightweight, strong and allows you to see the storm coming.

Mike Lyons is the weatherman for WPBF, Channel 25. His weather report can be seen nightly during the news hour.

Round and round we go...The Romero children are just a few of the kids enjoying the new playground equipment at Lyons Park which was installed recently. The Belle Glade City Manager helped find funding in the budget to purchase and install the new swing set, merry-go-round, slide and much more, at a cost of just over $25,000. Shown enjoying the equipment are, from left: Michael Romero, 5, Angel Romero, 3, and Jasmine Romero, 2.

children, says his mother is not feeling well.

Mrs. Clayton had surgery a few weeks ago and has been out of the hospital for two weeks.

That's when she said she started noticing the cross in window.

"I've lived in the house for three years. I've never seen it before," she says.

Vicki Johnson, who came from Pahokee Monday night to see the crosses, said "God said there would be signs and wonders. I believe this is a sign."

Some people who were lined up on the street outside the homes Monday night were singing. Others were just talking about what they saw.

One lady said she could see the image of Christ on one of the crosses. Another said Mrs. Seabrook should not turn people away.

"God has blessed her and she shouldn't be so hateful," she said.

Chief of Police Michael Miller said he went to Mrs. Clayton's home Tuesday night to investigate. He said when he turned off the light on Mrs. Clayton's next door neighbor's back porch, the image of the cross went away.

His main concern is traffic control on the street. He doesn't want cars clogging up the road, making it impossible for ambulances or fire trucks to get down the street.

He estimates that over 500 people have flocked to the site in two days.

Congratulations

I'm calling to congratulate one of the oldest veterans in the Glades area. I have just received a letter from him.

His name is Rowe B. Myers. He received the Purple Heart in 1918. He's a resident of Belle Glade and is 98 years old.

A special congratulations from the Glades area should be given to him for his service and dedication and his time served in the armed forces.

A special congratulations to Mr. Myers from Henry Crawford of Pahokee. I'm one of the fellows who's trying to give recognition to our armed forces personnel. And, if we get this together where we can put up a plaque for those veterans, I will be sure to try to put Mr. Myers' name at the top of the list.

Promote local people

Well, it's happened again. I'm calling in reference to the school board thinking we don't have qualified people out here to be principals of our schools.

The principal of Gove Elementary, who's only been here two years, is now leaving and going to the coast. But instead of looking to one of the assistant principals, (especially one like Glenine Davis who's been there as an assistant principal for 10 years,) they bring in someone from the coast.

This lady from the coast may be a very nice and very capable person, but I'm getting tired of not having principals of our schools live in this community.

I just think it's about time somebody in this community started saying something to our school board and especially to our school superintendent.

intendant that we would rather have people who live here be in charge of our schools rather than bring people in who will not stay here very long.

It looks to me like that if we could get the people to live here we might have a school that is run a little better if they plan on staying here quite a while rather than just a couple of years.

Editor's note: This subject was brought to our attention last week by Larry Konchellah, president of the Glades Branch of the NAACP. He feels this is happening in many job situations in the Glades. Thank you for Speaking Out.

You need to know

I'm calling regarding an issue which relates to education in the Glades area. I'm not sure if the Glades residents are aware of the recommendation for the kids in the west area, the severely emotionally handicapped students who have not met success on regular school campus who have been removed and placed in a special center which is in Canal Point.

The board has approved the move and they are planning to move all the kids from Belle Glade, Pahokee and Canal Point over to West Palm Beach into the old Charter Hospital on Okeechobee Blvd. and they're going to mix them with the kids from the north area and the south area. All the severely emotionally handicapped children who are assaultive and combative are going to be housed under one roof.

I would think that the Glades area residents would like to know that and try to do something to prevent that move. It is suppose to take place in the fall.

Editors note: The POLICE NEWS in this newspaper lists arrests, not convictions, unless otherwise stated. Arrested persons who later are found not guilty or have had the charges against them dropped are welcome to let us know. We will confirm the information and print it.

Letters to the editor

Honest, hardworking fishermen being maligned

Dear Editor:

There has been discussion in the media concerning a recent fundraising letter mailed by a pro-commercial fishing industry political committee known as the Save Our Seafood Committee.

The Save Our Seafood committee is comprised of your friends and neighbors who are supporting this political committee and endorse its agenda. That agenda includes supporting Florida's commercial seafood industry vigorously against the lies and deception of the anti-net lobby. The Save Our Seafood agenda is solid and deserves your support as well as the support of Florida consumers. Save Our Seafood is only one of several industry committees supported by thousands of Floridians.

The direct-mail piece was solely intended to encourage the recipients to question the vague generalities and distortions used regularly by the net ban group to solicit their support, financial and otherwise, the letter was intended to simply "parody" our opponents efforts.

We sincerely apologize to anyone who may have been misled by this letter. As we have faced the powerful net-ban lobby we have been subjected to distortions, innuendo and outright lies against one of the hardest working class of people in Florida; the commercial fishermen and their families. Our efforts are sincere and our tactics are honest.

This issue is a political battle, an economic battle, a consumer battle and a cultural battle.

Let me assure you that we will fight this battle until the last shot has been fired. Honest, hardworking fishermen and their families have been maligned too often by unsuspecting members of the media to let any attack by the net ban lobby go by without a response.

The net ban issue is one that pits Florida's 16,000 commercial fishing families providing quality fresh seafood for Florida consumers against the recreational fishing lobby that seeks to squander the same resource for its leisure and profit.

This is a battle that we have not sought. We intend, however, to fight for the future of our children and their children and to make them proud that we fought for our heritage and our God-given right to live and work in a free society.

The people who would ban nets are seeking to eliminate an entire class of people. We will not let that happen!

While the tactical aspects of a political campaign may be confusing to some, our cause is just and deserves the ultimate support of you and the citizens of Florida.

We encourage you and your readers to join with us to preserve a vital part of Florida heritage and our ability to continue to provide low-cost fresh Florida seafood to all Floridians. Those who want further information may call (407) 872-0099.

Sincerely,
Mark Taylor

Don't sell America short on July Fourth

By George R. Cramer
National Commander-in-Chief, Veterans of Foreign Wars

Independence Day is a day to reflect on America's history and present situation. If we follow the politicians, special interest groups and the news media we could be convinced that America is sliding into oblivion.

Here are some of their bleak snapshots:
A recent survey of our criminal justice system showed the average convicted murderer serves only 16 years in prison. The average sentence for rape is 60 days and the average criminal commits 186 crimes before his or her first conviction.

On other fronts, America's students aren't keeping up with their counterparts worldwide. American technology has been surpassed by Japan and Central Europe. Our health care is inadequate and unavailable to those who need it most. American workers aren't productive and quality is below world standards.

The rest of the story
If we listen only to these sensational stories, it can become pretty depressing. Fortunately, the facts don't support all this gloom and doom.

The United States continues to be the world's largest producer of goods and services -- 66 percent more than Japan and equal to all the European nations combined. American workers still have the highest output per person. Our unemployment is currently one of the lowest of any nation. And our economy is the healthiest in the world. Japan, Germany, Great Britain, Canada, and others are in recession.

Concern over health care has skyrocketed since the Clintons took office. But the fact is American health care is the envy of the world. We spend 14 percent of our nation's economy on health care. Canada and Sweden spend only 9 percent. Japan 7 percent, and Great Britain only 6 percent on health care.

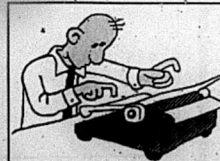

What about our education system? Foreign nations still consider our university system to be the best in the world. Our universities provide over one million basic researchers - more than Japan, Great Britain, Germany and France combined.

A greater percentage of American children are in school than in any other nation. Foreign leaders and those of means send their children to be educated here.

Veterans still care!
America's veterans and their families have paid a heavy price for this nation's freedom and prosperity. We still have much of which we can be proud.

We will not stand idle and watch our nation be sold out by those who constantly tell us how badly we've messed up.

This July 4th, take time to remember the heritage of family unity and traditional values that have made America great. Perpetuate these values in your family and community and America will continue to be the greatest place to live in the world.

School board approves Criminal Justice Program at GCCHS

The Palm Beach County School Board recently approved the initiation of a Criminal Justice Academy Program for Glades Central Community High School. The program will become a part of the curricular offerings effective at the beginning of the 1994-95 school year. The Criminal Justice program is designed to encourage and to prepare high school students for responsible citizenship, further learning and productive employment in criminal justice. Students will have the opportunity for studies in pre-law and law-related fields, and law enforcement. This program will offer career opportunities to students at all academic levels and will prepare students for the special training they will receive in a police academy, technical school or college/university.

The academy design will ensure development of academic potential while providing an education that meets graduation and college entrance requirements. More importantly, decision making, problem solving, verbal and written communication skills will be emphasized.

Components of the program will include compliance with criminal justice appearance and grooming standards, hands-on training-off campus at criminal justice agencies, adherence to all school attendance and student conduct codes, and wearing Original Justice-Academy uniforms to school one day per week.

The program is being offered to students entering ninth or 10th grade. They must also have a 2.0 cumulative grade point average (GPA) and a commitment to the ideals of the program.

Unique opportunities for students enrolled in the program to learn about the Administration of Criminal Justice, Police Administration, Juvenile Delinquency, Principles of Probation and Parole, Criminal Law, Laws of Evidence, and Laws of Arrest, Search and Seizure will be provided.

Dual enrollment opportunities in Criminal Justice through the Palm Beach Community College, as well as leadership training through laboratory and classroom work will enhance the program. Field trips to local criminal justice agencies, which will include law enforcement departments, corrections, the courts, State Attorney's Office, Public Defender's Office and legal firms are part of the program.

Practical experience in police customs including marching and commands for parades and ceremonies, as well as extra-curricular activities such as color guard and honor guard will be included in the curriculum.

Student enrollment application forms are available in the main office at Glades Central Community High School. Interested students are invited to complete and return their applications by June 30 in order to become members of the first Criminal Justice Academy class for the 1994-95 school year.

Hunting and fishing licenses expire June 30, purchase new licenses now

Most hunting and fishing licenses issued by the Florida Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission expire June 30.

Florida residents now can purchase 1994-95 hunting and fishing licenses from county tax collectors and their subagents at the following prices: combination hunting and fishing license, $22; hunting license, $11; fishing license, $12.

Resident fishing licenses are valid for 12 months from the date of purchase; all other licenses are effective June 1, 1994 to June 30, 1995.

Licenses for nonresidents are: fishing, $30; seven-day fishing, $15; hunting, $150 (Alabama residents), $100; 10-day hunting (not available to Georgia residents), $121; and, 10-day private hunting reserve, $15. Tax collectors and their sub-agents are authorized to charge an additional issuance fee for all licenses.

Also available to residents are Sportman's

Licenses for $66 which includes hunting and freshwater fishing licenses; and Type I wildlife management area, archery, muzzleloading gun, turkey and Florida waterfowl stamps.

Children under age 16 are not required to have fishing or hunting licenses, however they must pass a state-approved hunter safety course before hunting in Florida. Residents 65 or older are also exempt from license fees, but must carry a Senior Citizen exception certificate. A similar free certificate is available to residents who are totally and permanently disabled.

In addition, no license is required of residents for recreational fishing with a cane pole (no reel) using live natural bait or with a hand line, providing the fishing is not in a fish management area and is in the resident's county of residence.

For more information, contact your local tax collector's office or the Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission and request copies of the 1994-95 Florida Fresh Water Sport Fishing Guide and Regulations Summary, and the 1994-95 Florida Hunting Handbook.

Cougar experiment tests new variances

The addition of three animals will give researchers an opportunity to test new variables in the experimental release of cougars into the Osceola National Forest/Okefenokee Swamp area.

"This phase of the experiment is to test the feasibility of introducing new cats into an established population," said Tom Logan, head of wildlife research for the Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission. "Since these cats are, like Florida Panthers, highly territorial, it's important to evaluate how the established animals react to and interact with the new arrivals."

Also, the cats released into "soft release" pens recently are an adult female (known to scientists as Cougar No. T-02) and her 5-month-old female kitten (T-47). The adult was captured from the wild in Texas, and the kitten was born in captivity at White Oak Plantation, an endangered species breeding facility owned by Gilman Paper Company.

The cat to be released soon is an adult male (T-48), born in the wild in Texas.

After about 10 days in the soft release pens, the cats will be freed to join the rest of the cougar population in the area.

The cougar experiment is in its second year and is scheduled to continue through June 1995. Its purpose is to enable researchers to determine whether it is feasible to establish a Florida Panther population in the area. Scientists are using cougars, which are nearly identical to Florida Panthers, to test the site and to perfect their techniques.

"This will be the first time we have released a mother and kitten this young together," said Mr. Logan. "We will be paying close attention to how the pair disperses and reacts to their new environment."

Researchers have released adult females with their yearling kittens during previous phases of the experiment, but the yearlings were much less dependent on their mothers than this 5-month-old kitten is.

The commission has released 16 cougars in the area since February 1993. Ten still are roaming North Florida and South Georgia. Four of the cats died and two were removed from the experiment when they caused concerns among the residents.

The male cougars in the experiment are sterilized to prevent reproduction during the experiment.

Wildlife biologists Walt McCondon and Chris Belden are in charge of the cougar experiment.

Birds have about 940 to 25,000 feathers, depending on the species.

Did You Know...

July 4, 1776 was not when the signers actually put their "John Hancock" on the Declaration of Independence. Only John Hancock, who was the president of the Continental Congress, and Charles Thomson, its secretary, signed on July 4. On August 2, a beautiful copy of the Declaration was made on parchment, and all the members of Congress signed that copy.

Belle Glade residents selected to hunt alligators

The Florida Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission recently selected 500 persons to participate in this year's statewide alligator harvest. Among the persons selected, four people are from Belle Glade.

The agency received 6,859 applications for the 500 openings for alligator trapping licenses. Trappers were picked by a computerized random selection process.

This year's alligator harvest which will take place at 32 locations across the state, will be conducted in two phases. The first phase is scheduled to take place Sept. 1-15. The second phase will be Sept. 16-30.

According to Nick Wiley, a biologist with the commission's Alligator Management Section, "Based on our population surveys conducted in May, each participant will be allowed to take up to six alligators."

Selected participants must attend one of 11 three-hour training classes provided by the commission from July 23 through Aug. 9. Also, participants must purchase a $250 resident trapping license ($1,000 for nonresidents) by July 15 or forfeit their permit to another applicant. Those persons selected for the trapping season from Belle Glade are Dennis Baughman, Mona Miller, Mary Hart and Roger Matz.

FDEP proposing rule to save manatees

The Florida Department of Environmental Protection

(FDEP) is proposing a rule that would help save West

Indian manatees and their habitat. Under the proposed rule, boat slips created by the construction or expansion of most marinas in Florida's 13 "key" manatee counties will be limited to one powerboat slip for each 100 feet of shoreline owned by the applicant for the project.

"This restriction is important," says Robert Goodwin, attorney for Save the Manatee Club, which supports the proposed rule as an interim manatee protection measure, "because the risk of collisions between boats and manatees is reduced by limiting the number of powerboats using a waterway. This rule will help sensitive marinas away from important to manatees."

Mayor Anthony receives award of excellence

South Bay Mayor Clarence Anthony was recently awarded the Florida City and County Management Association's (FCCMA) President's Award of Excellence for his commitment to and support of the council-manager form of government. The award was presented during the Florida City and County Management Association's Annual Conference held at the Embassy Suites Resort in Palm Beach Shores, May 19-21. Mayor Anthony is a public administrator by education, a consultant by profession, and a politician by practice, and has been the Mayor of South Bay for 10 years.

He is also a vice president at William R. Hugh and Company, a municipal bonds firm, and is active with several organizations including the Florida League of Cities and the National League of Cities. Mayor Anthony has served on the Florida League of Cities' Board for five years and is slated
